Simon Cuthbertson PhD

Simon is a geologist with a wide range of interests ranging from the origin of mountain ranges to exploration for industrial resources. He gained his BSc and PhD degrees in geology from the University of Sheffield where, in addition to earthly preoccupations, he developed a fascination with planetary science that continues to inspire him. After three years in the oil industry and a postdoctoral fellowship at Glasgow University he moved to Paisley College of Technology, now UWS, where I was a lecturer for 30 years before moving to become a part time researcher in geodynamics at AGH University of Science & Technology in Krakow, Poland and a short course tutor at Glasgow University.
